

The costs of nutrients and comparison of feedstuffs prices¹

Dr. Normand St-Pierre¹

Dairy Management Specialist

Department of Animal Sciences

The Ohio State University

It has been a difficult month to work at Ohio State. Two of our dedicated staff persons are out, one due to a broken hip, and the other, our dependable Michelle Milligan, out with a severely broken shoulder that required extensive surgery. Their regular work has been distributed among the few able bodies left around, but a few things just didn't get done. My regular column will not appear in its normal format this month. Regardless, I did find time to run the software SESAME to calculate the break-even prices of feedstuffs available in Ohio. The regular column format will resume next month.

¹ © Normand St-Pierre, The Ohio State University. Published in Buckeye Dairy News, 2009-01-1